BACK FROM RED CROSS MEET

Jos. Jackson, Jr., District Manager for Coming Drive, Believes Our Quota Will Be Raised

"We believe we will make our quota in the coming Red Cross drive in good shape," said Jos. Jackson, Jr., who returned this morning from a meeting of district and county managers held yesterday in St. Louis. County managers from four of the counties in this district were present at the meeting, said Mr. Jackson, and over ninety per cent of the counties in the state were represented.

Maj. Geo. W. Simmons, manager of the southwestern division of the Red Cross, who is just home from France, told us there were just two things we could do to win the war besides furnishing foodstuffs and other supplies to our Allies, Mr. Jackson said.

"We must kill Germans, and we must support the Red Cross. Both of these are absolutely necessary. Even in Paris they are still talking about the wonderful things we did in the southwest in the Christmas membership campaign when we enrolled 3,250,000 new members, and Paris and France and England are expecting America to do just as well in the approaching money campaign."

TAX CUT HITS SCHOOLS HARD

Many Rural Districts Will Find Difficulty In Getting Money Enough to Keep the Schools Open

The reduction in assessments made by the state tax board has left several townships in Nodaway county facing a serious situation, as with reduced valuations there will be insufficient funds to carry on school work next year. The Kansas City Star's correspondent at Jefferson City says of the action of the state board:

"The reduction of assessments to the old time basis will make it practically impossible for many rural school districts to obtain enough money to keep the schools open, educators here predict. The salaries paid Missouri country teachers now are absurdly low, so low there is no incentive for teachers to seek positions in this state. The result has been a marked shortage in the supply of teachers.

J. D. Elliff, university professor head of vocational education in Missouri, some time ago declared hundreds of schools would have to be closed next winter unless the state board placed property valuations at a point where more money could be obtained for teachers' salaries. By striking down the tax values, the board of equalization has made it impossible for the poorer rural districts, even when voting the maximum school levy, to get enough money to pay school teachers more than $30 a month.

"McAllister, Sullivan and Middlekamp say in reply the last general assembly submitted an amendment for a 15 cent levy for school purposes, and that by the adoption of this amendment the people of Missouri may provide for the support of the schools. Even if that amendment is adopted this fall, no money could be obtained from it until 1921, which the educators say would be too late to save the rural schools from serious disaster.

DEATH OF JOHN C. EWART, 46

Died at the Home of His Niece, Mrs. Edwin Zeigler, of Ravenwood —Four Sons Survive

John Calvin Ewart, 46 years old, died at 8 o'clock this morning at the home of his niece, Mrs. Edwin Zeigler of Ravenwood, following a long illness of pernicious anemia. Mr. Ewart, who formerly lived at Bedford, Ia., had been at the Zeigler home for the last two months. He is survived by four sons and four brothers. His sons are Leslie, Ora and Troy of near Ravenwood, and Oakley, who is with the American expeditionary forces in France.

The body will be taken to Taylor county, Iowa, for burial.

Delbert E. Ingram of Skidmore enlisted as a clerk in the quartermaster corp in St. Joseph Monday and left that day for Jefferson Barracks.

FIND WHEAT HOARD

SAMUEL CORROUGH FORCED TO RELEASE 1,000 BUSHELS

REFUSED GOV'T. DEMAND

Asked Repeatedly to Aid In Helping Win the War He Declined to Sell His Holdings

The first case in Nodaway county of refusal to cooperate with the government food administration resulted this morning in 1,000 bushels of wheat belonging to Samuel Corrough of Arkoe being taken from the bins at the Corrough farm by federal agents and shipped to market. The food administration was represented by D. Wishart of St. Louis and F. P. Robinson, county food administrator. Said Mr. Robinson this morning: "Mr. Corrough was given every opportunity to dispose of his holdings of wheat, following the announcement that there was a shortage of that grain and that the government would expect all holders of wheat to sell their holdings at once. The action taken by the government was made necessary by his refusal to cooperate in helping to win the war."

About the sixth of April Mr. Robinson, having learned that Mr. Corrough had a quantity of wheat in bins, and with instructions from the food administration to urge that all that could be found be marketed, called him up to inquire about it. "The only answer he would give me was that he was 'dumb and had nothing to say' except that he could show by government bulletins that no wheat shortage existed."

Continuing, Mr. Robinson said: "A day or so later Mr. Wishart, representing the administration, came and in company with Horace Leet, grain dealer, went to the Corrough farm. Mr. Corrough would give us no information about the wheat, where it was stored or how much he had. We located the bins and on instruction from Mr. Wishart, Mr. Leet, a licensed grain dealer, tested the wheat and offered him the market price for his holdings. He would not say whether he would take it or not and gave us no satisfaction.

"The matter was reported to Food Administrator Mumford at Columbia, who wrote Mr. Corrough, giving him until April 14 to dispose of his wheat. Not getting a reply a government requisition was issued and this morning Mr. Wishart and myself called on Mr. Corrough to present it to him. He refused to accept it and after I had succeeded in reading it to him and putting it in his pocket he took it out and threw it on the ground and drove off. So I have arranged for a car and the wheat will be shipped tomorrow wherever the department may direct, paying Mr. Corrough the market price for his 1,000 bushels."

Mr. Corrough has a son, Ray Miller Corrough, serving with the colors, having been a member of one of the first quotas to go to Camp Funston.

With the idea that all should bear an equal part of the burden, the rich as well as those of smaller means, the government is determined to hunt out the unwilling ones and those who are not doing their part in the various war activities and campaigns. In the Liberty Loan campaign slacker cards were used to report those who were able and who refused to do their just share.

STOP NEEDLESS LIGHTING

Fuel Administrator Gets Order to See That Street Lighting Order Is Observed

County Fuel Administrator J. J. Heifner is in receipt of instructions from the state fuel administration asking that the rule governing street lighting be enforced. White Way lights should not be permitted to burn longer than necessary and instructions are given to see that no unnecessary lighting is done.

The White Way lights are frequently found burning far up into the day and it is in an effort to avoid a waste of coal and power that the order is given. The street lights were burning this morning as late as eleven o'clock.

"SHOCK SQUAD" READY

Following Long Meeting Last Night Committee Will "Talk Plain" to Certain Rich Merchants

The third Liberty Loan campaign committee held a lengthy meeting last night at which some fifteen or twenty "yellow cards" played an important part. The cards bore the names of men and women, some of whom are worth from $50,000 to $100,000. A few have made purchases of $500 and $100 bonds, just enough to say to the committee who calls on them that they have invested. The others have not yet seen the need for helping bear their part of the burden. They are going to see the need, though, for the committee is in earnest and the rich man or woman who refuses to do his or her part is going to be publicly placed in the light of a slacker or disloyalist.

The man or woman with money in the bank or available property that can be used, who takes it easy and waits for the other fellow to do his fighting for him is going to have to stand for some mighty plain talk before the campaign is over. Members of the "shock squad" have made up their minds that no matter who the person is, relative or friend, the thing is going to be put to them plainly.

"We are proving false to every trust in the world," said one of the members of the committee this morning, "if we do not go after these slackers, and we are proving false to the boys from Nodaway county we have sent to the trenches to fight for us and to give up their lives for us who are here at home living in comfort and ease. No sacrifice is too great for us to make when we know what they are sacrificing, and the man who wants to get out of doing his share in proportion as he is able will be publicly classed as a slacker and a disloyalist. We don't believe there'll be room for them in this county unless they show a different spirit in this matter."

DEATH OF MRS. HOLBROOK

Mrs. L. L. Holbrook died at 3:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon at her home, 318 South Mulberry street, after an eleven days' illness of panerea.

Mrs. Holbrook was 62 years old and is survived by her husband and three sons. The children are: C. C. Holbrook of Waterville, Kan., who has been with his mother for the last week, Roy R and Fred Holbrook of Los Angeles, Cal., and one brother, T. C. Harmon, Newton, Kan. Mrs. Holbrook has for years been a member of the First Methodist church, and was president of the Ladies' Aid Society. She was an acitve worker in the church. She was also president of the W. R. C., which will have charge of the funeral services.

Mrs. Holbrook, whose maiden name was Miss Dora Harmon, was born in Ohio, and came to Nodaway county immediately after the close of the Civil War, where she lived with other members of her family until after her marriage to Mr. Holbrook, forty-four years ago November 5, 1917. This was the first marriage in Pickering. Mr. and Mrs. Holbrook built the house in which they live, immediately after they were married.

Two sons, Roy and Fred Holbrook, of Los Angeles, will probably arrive in Maryville Thursday. Funeral arrangements will not be made until after their arrival. GET 75 MILLIONS BACK PAY

With Approval of Findings of Railway Wage Commission Employes Will Receive a Large Sum

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, April 23.—Seventy-five million dollars, it is estimated in railway administration circles today, will be turned over to the railway men of the country as back pay when Secretary McAdoo approved the findings of the railway wage commission. This figure is based on the generally conceded belief that the wage commission will grant a general increase of twenty per cent. It is already known that any increase allowed will be retroactive to January 1.

AT THE CHAUTAUQUA HERE

Bostonia Orchestra Will Be One of the Attractions at Maryville Assembly This Summer

The Bostonia Orchestra, under the leadership of Belle Yeaton Renfrew, which is booked to appear on our chautauqua this season, has just received an offer for another big summer's engagement by another management. But the Bostonias will remain with Mr. Vawter and fill all their engagements according to contract.

Fred Dale Wood, one of the headliners, to fill a lecture engagement here at chautauqua, has just closed a four weeks' speaking tour for the government on the third Liberty Loan drive. He is now in Washington, D. C., gathering material for his new lecture on "Financing the War."

T. F. Graham of the Redpath-Vawter system has just received word from his son, Donald, who is the army aviation service that he has practically completed his final tests on the French flying fields and will soon be privileged to participate in the actual fighting at the front.

The New York Farce Comedy, "It Pays to Advertise," which appears on our chautauqua program, is now on a tour of the national army training camps, showing our fighting forces a good time before they start for France.

WHERE TO GET CITY REVENUE

Tax Board's Action Leaves $33,000 Less On Which Taxes Can Be Collected For This Year

Making a square peg go into a round hole is an easy job compared to the problem of getting enough money from taxes this year to run the city government with $33,000 cut from the assessment returns by the action of the state tax board.

Members of the city council met with Mayor W. O. Garrett last night at the city hall and discussed the situation informally and how it might be possible to secure the needed amount. Nothing definite was arrived at.

Mayor Garrett said if it was his own private business he would know what to do without much thought — just hang the sheriff's sign over the door and get out. However, he is busy today going thoroughly into the matter of revenue and hopes to have something worked out that will relieve the situation.

Elmer Allen Improved.

Elmer Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Allen of Maryville, who is stationed at Camp Lewis, Wash., and who has been ill for the last three weeks of scarlet fever, is very much improved at this time, he writes to his friends and relatives here.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

London, April 23.—The German submarine bases of Ostend and Zeebrugge on the Belgian coast were raided by the British naval forces this morning, the admiralty announced. The raid met with "remarkable measure of success" the official statement said.

London, April 23.—Further improvement of the British positions on the northern end of the Picardy front and in Flanders were announced by the war office today. Local fighting which ended to the advantage of the British took place also in the sectors of Robecq and Wytschaete.

Paris, April 23.—German raids were carried out during the night between Lassigny and Noyon, but without result, the French war office announced today.

Washington, April 23.—The names of forty-three American soldiers appeared in the over-night list made public today. Only two were killed in action and one died of wounds. It was obvious that the list didn't contain the names of the men engaged in the Seicheprey fighting.

Soldier's Letters

"IN IT TO THE FINISH"

Son of Former Maryville Man Writes On Eve of Departure for France

A letter from a soldier boy published in last week's Literary Digest was written by Ray Saunders, a son of the late Ernest Saunders, formerly of Maryville. The letter is as follows:

"I'll be a long, long way from home for a while, but I'll go straight and come back a man you can be proud of, mother."

This is the message Ray Saunders sent on his departure from San Francisco for Camp Dix, from which he will depart for France. Here is his letter as printed in the Newport Beach (Cal.) News:

"I suppose Winnie called you and told you I would leave for New Jersey the 28th. Knocked all my plans for you two to come and see me, because I can't have you, or go to Frisco till I have been in uniform ten days, and the 28th is my tenth day. But never mind, mother; smile and see it through with me.

"Mother, it struck me today. I've just got it. What? That feeling that comes to a soldier when he hears the sunset gun and sees Old Glory brought to the ground. A chorus of bugles blow 'Retreat,' then the gun, then the flag comes down slowly, while the band plays softly. While this is bein done we stand at attention, erect, eyes ahead, right hand at brim of hat and everything very quiet. It is wonderful, mother, and it fills me with a new determination to protect and fight for that flag, and I will. We're in it to the finish; till the last German is gone and the sun rises on a world that is safe for a man's mother and wife or sisters.

"I'll be a long way from home for a while, but I'll go straight and come back a man you can be proud of. Have already learned in this little while many things, and am a better man now than you knew me. I can't imagine my old self. I love it, love you, and everything, and I won't be home till it's all over 'over there.'

"I salute you, mother. Goodby."

Prices Have Gone Up

The United States Government has ordered the production of all piano factories, along with various other factories, cut 30 per cent. This, with the continued raise in price of material has made it necessary for factories to either raise their prices to the dealers or cheapen their product. No high grade piano factory will cheapen their instruments, therefore, pianos shipped from factories after April 20th will be at higher prices. We have been expecting just such condition for some time, and if it will help win the war we are for it good and strong. We have on hand a large stock of pianos and players, bought at the old prices which we will sell, as long as they last, at the same price they have been since last September. The Gulbransen Players are priced the same, the world over, and we have a number of the Suburban Model in Mahogany, Walnut and Oak cases which we still sell at $395. The new price will be $425. We honestly believe this player to be the equal in every way to players that most dealers price at $550 to $750. When you buy of us you are protected by our experience and responsibility. Take advantage of our foresight in carrying a larger stock than usual at this time and buy a piano or player at the old price.

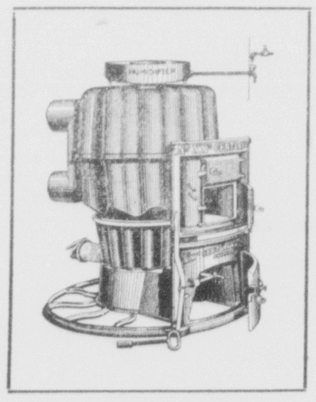
Heat Your Home at The Least Expense

You can never know real comfort in your home till you have installed a modern furnace. There are several reasons why it is more economical than stove heat. Just one fire heats the whole house and you can have it just the temperature you want it ALL OVER.

A properly installed furnace heats without "eating fuel." The kind of furnace to buy depends on the kind of heating problem you have. We install both pipe and pipeless furnaces.



The XXth Century

Is as near perfection in a furnace as it is possible to get. The principle of combustion in the XXth Century is what makes it such a fuel saver—it burns the gases and uses all the heat units in the coal. We have the XXth Centuury in both pipe and pipeless style. For a moderate sized home is a wonderfully efficient heater. No wall fules or extra chimney needed.

The Home Ventilator

—it heats direct with one register, distributing the heat evenly throughout the house. We can install this furnace with no inconvenience to you, and can show you the practical way to insure best results.

Let us figure with you on putting a furnace in your home.
